

Presenter Information - 2009

Nancy Casady, a graduate of San Diego State with a Masters degree in Communication. She and her family have been growing and selling organic food for the past 25 years. A native Californian, she is currently in her fourteenth year as the General Manager of the Ocean Peach People's Organic Food Co-op. The Co-op is owned by 12,000 families, has 105 employees and does over $12 million in sales a year. Nancy serves as the Vice President of the Board for the National Cooperative Grocers Association. She also serves on the Community Advisor Board for the Phoenix House, a residential drug treatment facility and on the Board of the Alliance for Nuclear Responsibility. She lives in La Jolla, California with her husband, Derek, with whom she shares four grandchildren and a love of tennis.