

Presenter Information - 2009

Noelle Ferdon is a Senior Organizer for the Food Program at Food & Water Watch, a national consumer advocacy organization, where she works on campaigns advocating for improved food safety regulations and a cleaner, safer food system for consumers. Noelle has been a long-time advocate for sustainable, family-farmers and believes that all food safety regulations must include the concerns of both the farmer and the consumer. Noelle has a B.S. in Political Science from California State University, Chico and a J.D. from Golden Gate University's School of Law with a certificate in Public Interest and Environmental Law.
